The bridge's towers and suspension cables are illuminated with warm yellow lights, contrasting against the dark blue twilight sky. The bridge spans across the water, with its lights reflecting on the surface.

Hello , my name is V . Robert.... I just wanted to let you know how excited I am to have found such a great and interesting website...I would also like to say "Thank You".... there isn't much on the web that explains a whole lot of Creole history..... my father is Creole , my mother is Mexican-Spanish , and for along time I did not know what it meant to be Creole, my father is one who does not like to discuss family heritage so I have had to research on my own, and I have to say , your website has really helped me figure out just who I am.... Thank You.....I'm so amazed at all the different information you have available, I will be checking back in daily just to read up on more info, I also am sending a link to your website to my brother who is also curious of our heritage, Thank You again for providing all this wonderful information, I feel like I finally found a piece of who I am..... Sincerely, V. Robert...P.s. the only thing I know of my fathers side is that my grandfather and all are from Baton Rouge , and are last name is Robert , but pronounced (Ro-Bear)other than that, I'm looking forward to learning more about me!

I was thrilled to find this site. More than 10 years ago, I went to a meeting of the International French Creole Cultural Society and then never heard anything more from them. I posted the links to two Creole list serves that I belong to on Yahoo

My family on both sides is from Opelousas, Louisiana - Guidry, Donatto, Hollier, LeBlanc, Carrier and Simms.

I will love to be apart of keeping Creole culture alive and educating our children about the rich culture from which they come.
